THREE CENTURIES OF HISTORY FROM A NON-PURITAN STANDPOINT

The Pilgrims or Wanderers in Holland Lacked That Positiveness Possessed by Jonah—Institutionalism Requires no Defense—Startling Statements Relative to the Increase in Crime Demands Our Attention.

An individual, upon a street corner, can secure converts by promulgating any positiveism or by persistence and sincerity, preach any ism whatever, until his teachings assume the appearance of the positive, and he will have a following. So far as known, the Pilgrims in Holland failed to secure a single convert. The term Pilgrim means wanderer, particularly a religious wanderer. If the term is understood, no better term could have been applied. When the Puritan departed from the Church of England, he forfeited everything that was institutional and was without a precedent or an antecedent.

Had he been assimilated in Holland, the result of the cross might have been some "drivers" instead of "drafts" or "gams" instead of "cochins" in accordance with physical laws. The twelve years sojourn of the Pilgrim in Holland was of lesser concern in the history of the Reformed church than the sea voyage of Jonah would have been in the autobiography of "the whale."

If we wish to know the history of religion, we must study the history of countries permeated and controlled by that religion.

Judaism, Catholicism, Lutheranism, Episcopalianism and the Reformed church have a past and a present. They have molded the character of nations. These are institutional sects so are all that have made a history in the life of nations. There are some plain yet startling facts that demand our prayerful attention.

In every country, and in every state crime is increasing in proportion to the increased amount spent on education.

The more money spent for education, the more criminals we make and the more money needed to take care of the criminals.

This does not condemn education, but causes us to study upon what constitutes an education. There is one universal consolation that is felt throughout the world. Countries and states differ only in degrees of guilt.

It is noted that countries having a single religion, the least fringing in crime is nulled.

In Europe, Sweden—a Lutheran country makes the best showing for money spent for education. Spain, a Catholic country, stands second. In our own state, the criminality among juveniles more than doubled in five years as shown by the chaplain's report of Mansfield Reformatory.

The study of the reports of our penitentiary and reformatory from a religious standpoint is earnestly recommended. The reports are published by the state and are for free distribution.

Try ADMIRAL COFFEE.

"Tailor-made men" are accustomed to paying high prices, but there are many occasions at all seasons when high-priced trousers not only prevent the full enjoyment of the hour but are distinctly inappropriate. Hangwell Trousers are less expensive than your others. You will increase your pleasure, maintain your dressy appearance, and save your "best clothes" for dressier occasions by wearing Hangwells. They will give you a new conception of the dressy character of garments "ready-made" by the Kenyon system. Make a selection and keep a pair of "Hangwells" for such occasions.

You will never find any other trousers that contain all of the splendid features of which we show a new one in every advertisement. They give new conveniences, added proof of stability, fine work and beautiful finish—products of juvenile genius not found in any other trousers.

VERDICT FOR THE DEFENDANT

Mrs. Lilley is Not Given Damages.

JURY IS OUT TWO HOURS

Sauer Asks $2,000 Damages From Mosier and Wife.

In the Suit of DeLauder Against Parrish the Plaintiff Refuses to Settle for $245—Court News.

After being out an hour and forty-five minutes, the jury in the damage suit of Oriana Lilley against the Marion Railway Light & Power company, returned a verdict for the defendant at 9 o'clock, Monday evening. The case went to the jury at 7:15.

Mrs. Lilley sued for $5,100 for injuries which she claimed she sustained in a runaway on East Center street in April, 1905. She claimed that a horse she was driving became frightened at a street car, which was being carelessly operated. She was thrown from the buggy, and according to her story, she fell with her throat across a wire, destroying her vocal cords so that she has scarcely been able to talk since.

The hearing of the case lasted two days.

Edward F. Tittelbaugh, J. William Tittelbaugh and Jerome F. Tittelbaugh brought suit in the court of common pleas, Monday, against John Poll and the unknown heirs of John Poll, deceased. The suit is brought to quiet title in 40 acres in Richland township, which the Tittelbaughs say they have occupied for 15 years.

The petitioners, through their attorneys, Crissinger & Guthery, say that March 9, 1893, the land in question was conveyed by the state of Ohio to John Poll, June 15, 1895 Poll conveyed the land to Conrad Cupp but the deed was never filed for record, the premises merely being transferred by the county auditor.

The plaintiff claim that by reason of the failure to have the deed recorded, they are entitled to ownership.

In the suit of Anore B. Cranmer against Harry Cranmer, an answer and cross petition has been filed by John George Miller, through his attorneys, Crissinger & Guthery. The answerer defendant says that August 25, 1905, Harry Cranmer and his wife executed to French Crow their mortgage deed, conveying to him the undivided 1-2 interest in 65 acres in Richland township, subject to the dower of Lucinda Ann Cranmer. The mortgage amounted to $563.60. Miller asks that the amount of the mortgage be made a first lien on the property at issue.

Benjamin Mosier and his wife, Mary Mosier, are both defendants in suits for damages brought in the court of common pleas, Tuesday morning, by Henry Sauer, who claims that Mr. and Mrs. Mosier assaulted him in Mosier's saloon November 4. Mosier and his wife are each sued for $1,000. Sauer claims that Mosier assaulted him with a club and Mrs. Mosier attacked him with a butcher knife. Sauer has retained D. E. Myers as his attorney.

The suit of Jeannette Shaffer against John H. Clark, administrator of the estate of Deborah Turner, has been decided in favor of the defendant. The plaintiffs, who sought to break the last will and testament of Mrs. Turner, gave up the suit and Tuesday morning Judge Young instructed the jury to return a verdict for the defendant. The last will of Mrs. Turner will stand.

The case of Charles C. Foster, the negro charged with disposing of a wagon which was covered by a chattel mortgage, which was to have been heard at 1 o'clock this afternoon before Justice H. C. Thompson, has been continued until 7 o'clock this evening.

In the suit of Lawson H. DeLauder against Barbara Parrish, the plaintiff has refused to accept the offer of judgment made by the defendant. She offered to pay $245 to effect a settlement.

Inflammatory Rheumatism Cured in 3 Days.

Morton L. Hill, of Lebanon, Ind., says: "My wife had Inflammatory Rheumatism in every muscle and joint; her suffering was terrible and her body and face were swollen to a most beyond recognition; had been in bed for six weeks and had eight physicians, but received no benefit until she tried Dr. DeLauder's Relief for Rheumatism. It gave immediate relief and she was able to walk about in three days. I am sure it saved her life."

CARR'S TRADE LETTER.

Weekly review of Grain Trade Conditions which are shaping prices prepared expressly for The Mirror by H. H. Carr and Company, Commission Merchants, 906 Board of Trade, Chicago, Ill., who possess unexcelled facilities for executing orders for future delivery.

In our last letter we urged strongly that buyers take hold for a natural recovery in prices. Today and the May over $1.04 an advance of from 5 to 10 from bottom prices of last week. There is not much guess work about this market. We are able to indicate a few days in advance what is in store for the trade because the close study of trade conditions. Europe is beginning to buy wheat eagerly on this side again. Spring wheat farmers of the northwest are able to hold their grain for better prices and are refusing to sell at Minneapolis, Duluth and Winnipeg receipts are not adequate to meet the domestic and foreign demands. Chicago, Kansas City and St. Louis together have reduced wheat stocks about 10,000,000 bushels the past six weeks. There will be further decrease in stocks here before late navigation closes. As gold comes in and wheat goes out speculative market is strengthened. Late cables report cold wet weather for the approaching early harvest in Argentina. Just now the trade is extremely nervous and sharp reactions in prices have been and will be recorded almost daily. Right here is where the great advantage of discretionary orders comes in. We are enabled to execute such orders in large quantities at the moment when prices have had a natural break and the result is profit for all concerned almost immediately. Two or more persons can form a speculative partnership, each contributing his share of the protection according to the amount of his interest therein and the orders could be sent in the name of the firm or an individual as preferred. Ten discretionary orders for 5,000 bu. from one town equal 50,000 bushels and from ten such towns would aggregate 500,000 bushels, an amount sufficient in itself to reasonably insure a nice profit every time it is executed.

Natural action in corn has been disturbed for a day or two by the selling out of some very heavy holdings for local and eastern account. Prices have had two or three quick drops but each time followed by a quick and substantial rally. It looks as if liquidations by professional leaders is over. Corn raisers and stock shippers who have visited our market for the past few days are very positive in their views about short yields and poor quality. The country is selling little corn. Receipts are extremely small until financial conditions are more settled it may be well to place buying orders well under the market to have them filled on the breaks.

Cat prices have had quick changes up and down with wheat and corn and we see little chance for any independent action in this market.

CONTEST OF CHAMPIONS

An Editor's Opinion on the Chicago Stock Show.

The International Live Stock Exposition is the clearing house of all the live stock shows of the continent. If a prize-winner at other shows be of sufficient merit to have the slightest prospect of winning an International premium, it is sure to be there. The International show is, therefore, a contest of champions, and the ribbons won are held in the highest esteem.

The students' contests originated by President J. S. Spooner of the Union Stock Yards, and enlarged upon by the generosity of Mr. J. O. Osden Armature, are alone sufficient to place the Chicago International at the head and front of live stock educational institutions. The fat hog, sheep and cattle exhibits surpass anything else of the kind on the face of the earth. The Chicago International is the one show which no self-respecting stockman can afford to miss.

The International show of 1907 opens on November 30th and continues to December 7th. Note the sales of pure-bred cattle and sheep advertised in this paper.—National Stock Grower and Farmer.

FINE DISPLAY IS APPRECIATED

Many People Attend Electrical Show.

AFTERNOON AND EVENING

Visitors Will be Received During Present Week.

The Show Which is Being Held in the Tally Wag Hall is Both a Treat and an Education.

On the opening afternoon and evening of the big electrical show in the Tally Wag hall, fully two thousand persons visited the place and thoroughly enjoyed and appreciated the many wonders to be seen there.

Almost everything in the line of electricity has been secured for exhibition by the Ohio Novelty Sign and Electrical company, the Marion Railway Light and Power company and the Marion Electrical Supply company, the three firms under whose auspices the big show was arranged.

The front of the building is elegantly lighted with streamers of incandescents. The interior is arranged with attractive booths. On entering the hall the first booth on the left is that of the Marion Electrical Supply company. In the booth in charge of Messrs. J. Vazel and D. J. Shelton, almost everything in the line of lighting, heating and power appliances are to be found.

The booths of the Marion Railway Light and Power company come next. In the "cooking" department, Mrs. Lyons, a demonstrator of the General Electric company, of Chicago, demonstrates the various purposes for which electricity can be used for cooking and heating. Coffee, cake, bread, rice and many other things are made "while you wait." In the "light" department the company has an excellent exhibit of lighting apparatus. It also had a booth arranged with sewing machine, washing machine heater, and electric iron, the various uses of which are demonstrated by Mrs. William Berry.

At the end of the hall the booth of the Ohio Novelty Sign and Electrical company is located. The company has on display a fine assortment of electrical signs, all kinds of motors, heating appliances, lights of every description and electric supplies.

The feature of the exhibit is a large electric sign showing the apparatus by which the sign is operated. There is also on display a genuine Tiffany chandelier and dining room dome which is valued at $2000. The company's booth is in charge of Guy Kendrick.

A very interesting feature of the show is a carpet renovator displayed by the Electrical Renovator company of Parnassus, Pa. A demonstration shows how to clean the dirtiest carpet in a few minutes.

It is expected that between ten and fifteen thousand persons will visit the big exhibit during the week as no admission fee is charged. The hall is open afternoon and evenings and a visit to the show is both a treat and an education that no one should miss.

EXAMINERS FILE REPORT

Everything in First Class Condition.

BOARD CONGRATULATED

For Their Honest and Business-like Administration

Mrs. Mary Watts Files a Petition for Alimony Tuesday in Court of Common Pleas.

George T. Geran and John W. Himmenger, appointed by Judge Young of the court of common pleas to examine the county commissioners' annual report, filed their report with the county auditor, Tuesday morning. The commissioners' report was for the year ending September 1.

The examiners find that while the report of the commissioners is true and correct it is not in strict accordance with Section 917 of the Revised Statutes, which requires the report to be itemized as to the amounts, to whom paid and for what purpose. They state that they find after careful examination that the journal of the commissioners has been kept according to law and no contract or bill required by law to be recorded has been omitted. All items in the journal correspond with bills filed.

The examiners state that they desire to commend the neatness and accuracy with which the journal has been kept. They say they have also examined the report of the commissioners as a board of turnpike directors and find that all transactions have been carried on according to law.

"The county commissioners are to be congratulated," state the examiners, "for their honest and business-like administration of the financial affairs of Marion county during the past year. All transactions of the board have been according to law."

Every Watts and Mary Watts were married October 12 and not a day since then has the young husband provided home, clothing or food for his wife. That is the story which she tells in a petition for alimony filed in the court of common pleas, Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Watts, through her attorneys, Copeland and Bartram, says that her husband, who until recently conducted a barber shop on North State street, has repeatedly requested her to return to her home saying that he preferred to live alone. She has repeatedly been compelled to go to her parents for food, she claims. She says that he has disposed of his barber shop to A. C. Oliver and Bert V. Oliver, who she names as defendants and asks the court to restrain them from paying her husband any more money. She believes that he is planning to convert all of his property into money, draw the several hundred dollars he has on deposit in the Marion Savings bank, and return to his former home, which she thinks is in North Carolina. She asks that he be restrained from selling his real estate and asks that the Marion Savings Bank company be restrained from paying him any money. She says that she is in destitute circumstances and she asks for reasonable alimony.

DYING LAD ACUSES HIS HUNTING COMPANION

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 19.—Accused by a dying comrade, Lester Wyckoff, aged 12, is held in jail to await the fast approaching death of Victor Alden, aged 11, whom he shot while hunting. The dying lad asserts his companion pointed his gun at him and pulled the trigger, saying he didn't care if it did go off. The prisoner says he aimed at a rabbit.

Police Court

Mabel Wilson, a "canary" hailing from Columbus, was arrested for drunkenness in the West End last night by Officer Chapman. Mabel was attired in a big fur coat and fur gloves, but her stylish appearance did not extend to her hat or her other clothing. After listening to a lecture on the error of her ways, delivered by the Hon. Louis Scherff with his customary thoroughness, Mabel left the court room, weeping and took a car for Columbus. She left a new pair of fur gloves to secure the payment for a $5 fine.

Dell Humphries, the "fairy" who was arrested several days ago for drunkenness, and was ordered out of the city, showed up again last night in the West End with another good jag aboard. She was arrested at the Union Station by Officer Cusic. This morning her lover put up $5 for her appearance in court tomorrow morning.

Otis Chandler was arrested last night by Officer Frame and a charge of intoxication was placed against him name on the police blotter. He was fined $5 by the mayor this morning, and was ordered committed until the fine is paid.
